The Museo Marino Marini reopens the Cappella Rucellai to host the liturgical rite. The first Mass will be Saturday 25 May, at 17.30

The Rucellai Chapel - jewel of the Renaissance by Leon Battista Alberti, located inside the Museo Marino Marini in Florence - will reopen its doors to host the liturgical ceremony of the Holy Mass. Starting on May 25th, on the final Saturday of the month, this extraordinary place will play host to its religious use, celebrated this year by Father Bino, rector of Santa Trinita. We invite all Florentines to participate.

The mass is open to all those who keep the faith, but given the limited capacity of the chapel, entry will be possible only until all the places are filled.
